

Shoe Secrets

The Official Newsletter for www.Bondfields-Shoes.com

Issue No. 11 - June 2007

From Susan . .

Have you ever had the feeling you would like things to slow down just a little. Well I would. It seems that the past five months have taken off like a jet airplane. With the official start to winter upon us and the end of the financial year looming up ahead it is time to give all you special ladies advice that our Annual Stock-take Sale will be held on Saturday and Sunday 16/17th June. With so many wonderful boots and great shoes for winter make sure you come and get a bargain next weekend.

Whilst shopping for your shoes don't forget to accessorise and treat yourself to a piece of our exclusive jewellery or handbag to match your outfit whether casual or formal.

So happy stocktake sale where you get the bargains and look for our next issue of Shoe Secrets which will give you glimpses of what is coming for spring and summer.

“Ladies Shoes Slashed 20-50%

To make way for my new season arrivals of quality brand name shoes . . . Selected Stock (including boots and some of the latest winter fashions) at Bondfields have been slashed between 20-50% during our June Stock-take SALE!!

HURRY... Sale
Starts 16th June!

'Winter Boots and Long Skirts' . . .

Tall boots and long skirts are a cool weather natural (and as winter has just stepped in it's the perfect time for such fashions), there seem to be more options for casual long skirts than there are for dressy ones however here are just a few tips I came across online recently...

Choosing the right shoes for a long skirt is relatively easy if you keep in mind that you want to either minimize the amount of skin that you show (as you would with tall boots), or maximize the amount of skin you show (as you would with strappy sandals).

When you're looking for footwear that works well with long skirts, don't forget to consider dress boots as well as strappy sandals (which are a great example of the right kind of shoes to wear with a mid-length or long full skirt – but maybe not the best choice for the cooler months ahead).

In either case, the safest choice is choosing boots that are tall enough to be covered by the hemline of the skirt. This will keep the lines of your outfit long and lean.

Wedges are a great choice for long skirts that have a bit of fullness at the hemline, but they can look too heavy for skirts that are very narrow.

So it seems that picking the right boot for a long skirt can at times be a tricky dilemma, whatever way you choose to wear boots and long skirts if going casual remember this tip ... in the case of casual long skirts, let the fullness of the skirt be your guide.

Slouchy, heeled, flat, and even chunky tall boots will work with a fuller skirt, while long narrow skirts work best with heeled and close-fitting boot styles.

Until next month, we wish you the best that life can bring . . .

Happy Stock-take Shopping!

Susan and the Bondfields Team 😊